14th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Dear Parish Family:

When Thomas Jefferson, Charles Carrol and John Hancock signed the Declaration of Independence, it marked a turning point in their lives and the history of our country. Our readings today also mark a turning point in the history and lives of Israel and the people of Jesus' native territory. In many ways, our country today seems to stand at a turning point. We are being tugged and pulled in many directions. Many voices in our midst are calling us to different courses of action and different values. Like Israel, so often, we are being called to choices. Like Jesus' townsfolk and neighbors, we are being asked to make a decision.

Jesus called people of his own town to faith and conversion. He meets resistance and opposition. We do not know what Jesus taught, but it is safe to say his lessons of reforming, challenging them to live according to His ways, to love one another, were strong enough to prick the consciences of the listeners and got them wondering. They soon realized that Jesus was there not to entertain them with fancy rhetoric, but to conversion, to challenge them to reform their lives, to translate his words into works of forgiveness, helping the poor, supporting the widows, feeding the hungry, clothing the naked. All meant enthusiasm, commitment responsibility on their part. It's no wonder they found him too much for them.

What about us? Don't we try to water down Jesus demands, looking for shortcuts, detours around the commandments? Don't we turn a deaf ear to the teachings of the Church? Jesus is still looking for our faithful response to his message. We have a choice to make, we can yawn and get back to our normal routines of our lives, with excuses that try to satisfy our consciences, or we can listen to His words, commit ourselves to follow His commandments more seriously and find a new way of life filled with peace and joy.

The choice is ours! Is it going to be "O'hum or Ah Ah?"

Fr. Stas'
